

Leave Your Teens Alone

NEW 365 More
Meditations for Teens
- edited by Sally D. Sharpe

It's good for teens to spend a few minutes alone with this collection of devotions for each of 365 days a year, featuring Scripture and questions for discussion or reflection—to help them connect with God, discover answers for life, and find real meaning and purpose.

This meditation resource deals with many of teen's toughest questions, such as: What do other people think of me? Will my parents ever understand me? What if I fail? When will I meet "the one" for me, and how will I know? Is there a God? Does God really care about me? This personal resource lets teens "listen in" on talented adult and teen writers who discuss these and other important questions, sharing insights about life and the Christian faith.

Each daily meditation is like a spiritual pit stop that takes just a few minutes—all gathered in a book that can help you take 365 steps forward this year as you deepen your journey of faith.

CA10-9781426702587. Paperback, $16.00

Published by Abingdon Press

Cokesbury

store, web, phone
Cokesbury.com | 800.672.1789